Appomattox County Library

By Verna Conner

In October, 1963 the following poem was written by a patron of the County Library.

"Step right up you fellows and gals
To the County Library and meet some pals.
They aren't walking around on two big feet
But lining the walls on shelves so neat
In colors bright you will find an array
To tempt your browsing at least once a day.
There is poetry and prose
with many a word;
Some I'll bet you haven't yet heard!
In addition to this there are pictures, too.
Some I'm sure you would like to view.
Books you'll find to make you think and smile
With even a tear-jerker once in awhile.
A pepper-upper you might here find
To make life easier in the same old grind.
Words! Words! Words without number -
You won't need a sedative to make you slumber.
Nor will you need a quick pep pill
If you make the right choice to give you a thrill.
Besides the reading just for pure pleasure
You'll acquire a knowledge that later you'll treasure
In time to come you'll have a surprise
When people think you so wonderfully wise.
The trouble you take now, you'll never rue it
When you can say, "That quote - I knew it!
So let's make friends with the printed page
Let it not be said, "This is the ignorant age".
Call on the librarians once in awhile
They enjoy giving service with a friendly smile.

Alice humbly ends her remarks with this statement, "With apologies to all poets living and dead"

Save at First Federal, and you'll get more money back than you could at any other type of insured savings institution. We guarantee it. And an agency of the federal government guarantees it. Only an insured Savings & Loan like First Federal can give you 5¼% interest paid and compounded daily on insured passbook savings — and up to 7¾% on insured savings certificates. Whether you save a little or a lot, we want to help you plan for the high cost of tomorrow — today!
